Wrestling Card Has Gallaghers In Farmville

Thursday night, April 18, at 8:30, in the National Guard Armory in Farmville, the wild and wooly Gallagher Brothers, with their disputed "blinder hold," will headline the three bout wrestling program being sponsored by the Farmville Volunteer Fire Dept.

Doc and Mike Gallagher will meet Johnny "Rubber Man" Walker and Reggie Parks in the Australian Tag team match which will be a best two of three falls with an hour time limit. Both Walker and Parks are fast and agile and will depend on speed and agility to evade the illegal tactics of the Gallaghers. Johnny Walker is known as an escape artist and claims that no one can tie him up in a legal hold that he can't get out of.

Alex Perez, a flashy newcomer from Amarillo, Texas, will take on Crusher Angelo in the semi-final bout which is also a best of three falls bout. Angelo, a 295-pound giant, has won handily in his three local appearances and will be out to take number 4 at Perez.

Eduardo Castillo, a good looking youngster from Spain, will take on Jack Vansky in the 8:30 preliminary.

Advance tickets are now on sale by members of the Fire Dept. and at local stores in Farmville.

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HA

YOU'LL KNOW WHY FORD SWEPT THE FIRST FIVE PLACES AT DAYTONA...WHEN YOUR '63 FORD IS STILL GOING STRONG YEAR AFTER YE

Daytona's big, banked oval puts unbelievable stresses and strains on engines, steering gears and frames. The Fords that won at Daytona took all the punishment this famous track could dish out over 500 miles of grueling competition without missing a beat.

In this toughest of all stock car events, mechanical failures claimed over fifty per cent of the starting field. But of twelve Fords entered, nine went the distance. Ford took six of the first ten places.

Five-hundred-mile events like Daytona are a public demonstration of toughness, reliability and sheer engineering excellence that are part of the new generation of Fords. A test like this can't be duplicated on anybody's testing grounds—it's run right out in the open. Any car can enter. But only the car that has the best total combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension can win . . . that's what we mean by total performance.

Visit your Ford Dealer before you buy any other ne Here's what you'll find: a new kind of total-car durability, kind of handling ability, a suspension that is startlingly s yet sticks to the road like far. If you haven't driven con you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Remember built by Ford, it's built for performance . . . total perfor

He Lives

Lesson for April 14, 1963

Christ is risen! That will be said countless thousands of times this Easter day. If the human race has not wiped itself out by this day, there will be millions of Christians throughout the world who say this amazing sentence with thankful joy. The words should never become commonplace. Consider what the early Christians meant by this. All the first Christ-believers were Jews; and at that time they all believed that somehow, somewhere, many if not all human beings who had died since the human race began, would come to life again. "Many of those who sleep in the dust shall awake," was the way they put it, they spoke of a kind of delayed immortality. If you had asked the ordinary pious Jew of Jesus' day, "Where are the dead, now" he might have said, "Asleep in the dust," or "Among the others in the shadow-world of the grave."

He Lives!

But after the first Easter Sunday, the Christians did not go around saying, "Christ is asleep in the dust! Christ is a ghost among ghosts!" Those are far from comforting thoughts. What the Christians said was, "He is risen!" which means, if it means anything, "He lives!" And they didn't mean "in heaven." They meant right here, where they had seen Him and spoken with Him. It is true, after a time He disappeared and was seen on earth in the old way no more. But that did not depress those Christians. They never knew how to explain it, and they did not try. But what they had seen, they had seen, and nothing ever shook them out of the conviction: Jesus lives! To put this in another way: The characteristically Christian way to think about Jesus Christ is as a now-living person. He lives in memory. He lives on the pages of history. Books have been written to show that Jesus was a real historical character; but that is not the point. Past tenses have never been enough for a Christian speaking of Christ. True, He was and He did thus and so. But it is more important to remember that He is and He does so and so. Read through the New Testament and you will find that Christ is in the past tense in the gospels, because they are dealing with history. The rest of the New Testament speaks of Jesus mainly in the present.

He Lives!

Another way to look at this Easter-faith of the church is to emphasize that little pronoun HE. He lives. The early Christians could see a difference between the Jesus they knew before Calvary and the Jesus they knew after the resurrection. The difference was great enough so that they sometimes did not recognize Him at first. Nevertheless when they did break through their hesitations and believed what they saw, it was never as a stranger that they saw Him. If the man next door to you is a man you know little of except that he is a friendly grey-haired man who always has a pleasant word for his neighbors and works on his yard on Saturday you discover he is a sunday you discover he is a superior court judge; you may be taken aback; you may not recognize him with his robes on up there on the bench. But it's the same man. So the Jesus, whose living-forever the church celebrates at Easteride, is the same Jesus we read about in the pages of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. Not somebody better or different, but Himself. HE lives!

"Risen in You"

"If Christ be risen in you—" so begins a famous chapter in Colossians. This seems at first like a strange way to think about the Resurrection. Not as a historic event outside us, like most events, but an event that happens inside us. Is this a miracle? Perhaps it is. But perhaps it is what God intended for us all along, that we should not be burial-grounds in which the thoughts and the love of Christ are laid away, but resurrection places, from which Christ rises every day, not once in a lifetime—rises to think in our thoughts, hope in our hopes, work in our work; or rather rises in us so that we have to say at last, All the good in me is not mine but His!

Pastor Says

Easter's Inner Meaning

"I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live. . ." (John 11:25)

On the campus of Mt. Holyoke College in New England, there is a sundial with the following inscription: "To larger sight, the rim of shadow is the line of light."

Death looked upon in th's light is only a momentary rim of shadow. Behind it or beyond it is waiting the radiance of eternal life.

The background of the above scripture throws light upon Easter's inner meaning. Martha and Mary had only one brother living. So far as we know they were a very close knit family. What effected one effected the other. These sisters were aware of Jesus' love for them and Lazarus. So they reported his sickness. What a marvelous insight it is to be so acquainted with Jesus to be aware of his love and concern! It makes us wonder sometimes if we are as sensitive to the Character of Jesus as we ought to be!

Jesus replied to this request by saying that the sickness of Lazarus was for the glory of God, that the son might be glorified thereby. The circumstances in which we find ourselves, in sickness or other reverses, the resurrection has meaning. It sends rays of hope on into eternity. This glory or manifest character of God revealed itself in the sharing of Jesus in the concern of Martha and Mary. He "groaned in the Spirit". He moved on the inside, as it were, and walked the path of grief with them. He sobbed with them, because it was in His nature to share in their grief.

Then the glory of God was manifested in it's ability to conquor death. In loved he cared. He care to the point of bringing this one back to life. Lazarus was loosed and let go. Because of such manifestation of God's glory many who were close to the event believed on Jesus.

The glory of God was revealed further when Jesus announced that faith in Him would accomplish things that would go on beyond the grave. "I am the resurrection and the life." Against the background of the raising of Lazarus, Easter takes on a new meaning. In the light of the fact of the resurrection of Jesus, and the performing of this miracle, we have the assurance in our lives that it will also happen to us.

The inner meaning of Easter is the new life in Christ; new hope in his resurrection; and new horizons for those who trust him as personal Saviour and Lord. Don't forget the Easter Sunrise Service at 6:30 Eas'er morning at the Presbyterian Church, and be in your own church to Worship the Living Lord at 11:00 and 8:00 Sunday. Jesus says "Because I live, you too shall live".

Seventh-Day Adventist Church

Medical College Offering, April 13.

A $12,000,000 expansion program has been mapped out for the Seventh-Day Adventist-owned medical school at Lama Linda, Calif., Pastor William E. Carpenter of the Appomattox Adventist Church told his congregation Saturday.

The plan includes a 700-bed hospital and related facilities on the 58-year-old campus of the Loma Linda University. The present Loma Linda Hospital has a capacityof 170—with an additional 308 beds at the White Memorial Hospital on the Los Angeles campus.

For many years the first half of Loma Linda University's four-year medical course has been taught on the semi - rural 500 acre campus at Loma Linda, the final two years taught on the metropolitan Los Angeles campus six miles to the west As the school of medicine grew to become one of the nation's largest medical schools, however, it became apparant that new teaching and research facilities would have to be constructed at one of the two campuses.

At a recent meeting the university trustees voted to consolidate all four years of the curriculum at Loma Linda central campus for the other schools of the university, and to expand facilities to meet the needs this step will require.
